

Confluence Spaces

Confluence Spaces

Prompt

Discrete content areas in Confluence.

Definition

Confluence spaces are individual content areas that make up and organize a Confluence site. When people create, communicate, or collaborate in Confluence, that work takes place in spaces.

Each space has its own area for pages and blog posts, as well as a permission scheme that defines who may access or administer that space.

For more information, please see

Atlassian's documentation on spaces.

Info

Related

- Space Labels