Macros

Prompt

Tools that add features and functionality to Confluence pages.

Definition

Confluence macros are pre-built blocks of code that you can add to pages to accomplish certain tasks. Macros can:

- Aggregate and display content from other areas of your site;
- Surface information such as page metadata, user info, etc.;
- Provide different display options for content and data;
- Render links and other calls to action; and more.

Most macros have parameters that you can set to further customize a macro's output.

Please see

Atlassian's documentation for more information, including a full list of built-in Confluence macros.

Many apps from the Atlassian Marketplace are bundled with additional macros.
