Scheduled Page

Relates To

CONTENT FLOW

Scheduled Page

Prompt
A page that is subject to having its viewing restrictions automatically changed at a given time.

Definition
Brikit's Content Flow allows you to set the time frame, also called a scheduled window, during which a page (or blog post) is viewable by all users with view permissions. Setting this scheduled window makes this page a scheduled page. A scheduled page means that it will be released at a release time and, optionally, hidden at a hide time.

Scheduled pages are smart ways to release news articles, blog posts, seasonal announcements, or any content in need of a strict period of visibility.

Info
Related

- Scheduled Window
- Scheduling a Page
- Scheduling and Page Restrictions